JUDGE LYNCH is getting ubiquitous.

HOADLY has hammed the right kind of tune.

No boss need apply for office in Warren county this year.

The Red Necks will have something to say about county affairs this year.

All good citizens should prepare to attend the Ward and District Democratic meetings.

MASKED robbers near San Antonio last Saturday robbed a Congregational preacher of $600. Preaching the gospel is lucrative—in Texas.

THERE is a report that the Republicans of New York intend to run Col. Fred. Grant for Lieutenant-Governor. Such a nomination will be both a bid for sympathy and a confession of weakness.

EMMA NEVADA, the opera singer, is booked for her first appearance in matrimony, October 1st. Dr. Raymond Palmer, an Englishman, will be her leading man. Whether he will support her or she him, is not known. At any rate he will marry her.

MR. CHAS. STEPHENSON, editor of the Southern Mining and Manufacturing Journal, published at Birmingham, Ala., paid us a pleasant and interesting visit yesterday. He will collect data, while here, for a sketch of the railroads and manufacturing industries of Vicksburg, for his valuable journal.

MESSRS. FRED BEALL, S. F. White and others, the committee, have our hearty thanks for a cordial invitation to attend the grand ratification meeting in West Point to-morrow. But for pressing duties in this county we should certainly be with our gullant and tried Democratic friends of Clay county and join with them in a hearty endorsement of the splendid ticket nominated at Jackson.

The Times-Democrat's mammoth trade edition issued Sept. 1st, contains twenty-eight pages made up of attractive advertisements, together with well written sketches and carefully compiled statistics of the business resources of New Orleans and its rich tributary country. The management has spared neither time, labor nor expense to make their trade edition worthy the magnificent prospects of the Southern States—and their efforts have been crowned with success.

The First of the Grant Monument —The Grangers' Tribute.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
The first monument to the memory of Gen. Grant has just been completed at Peabody, Kan., and adorns the grounds of the State Fair Association at that place. This novel cenotaph has a shaft 40 feet high with a pedestal of 7 feet. This granger obelisk is made of a framework of wood firmly anchored to a solid foundation, and entirely covered with ears of yellow corn. The four sides bear respectively the words, "Peace," "Union," "Plenty" and "Liberty," carefully built up of red ears. The cornice moulding of the pedestal is covered with sorghum stalks, and at each angle is a huge Kansas pumpkin. In the center of each face of the pedestal is a portrait of the hero of Appomattox, surrounded with a triumphal wreath of ears of pop-corn with the berries of the laurel crown. Corn stalks in mosaic style cover the remainder of the pedestal faces, and at the south and north sides are stacks of arms ingeniously constructed of corn stems, with bayonets of the same material. The thirty-two bushels of corn used in the monument were taken from a field adjoining the town of Peabody, belonging to the President of the association. All the ears were of large size, which suited admirably until the apex of the shaft was reached, when it looked as if somebody would have a telegraph to some other State for the necessary small ears.

THE PRINCIPLE.

In Southern communities it is possible for the property owners and intelligent citizens to secure to both races good local government; it is impossible however for the negroes to secure even endurable rule. The whites cannot always give satisfaction; the negroes can never do it. It is therefore the best for both races that the whites rule, and only selfish men and the negroes' worst enemies tell them differently.

In this county a peculiar and dangerous political situation exists. The white people, with great liberality and long forbearance, have for years allowed the control of county affairs to remain in the hands of men who do not represent their views, who have betrayed and robbed both races, and who propose to maintain themselves in power by brazen corruption and boasted bribery. They have already paralyzed the courts, and they now propose to destroy by bribery the citizenship of any who dare oppose them. These are not mere assertions, they are facts. They are known to be facts by every well informed citizen in the county.

We have not the "man on horse-back," it is true, but we have worse; we have the scoundrel with the roll of money as big as one's leg. He disputes with his money the right of the honest citizens to control their own. He has already "made" several average fortunes off the people of Warren county, but he wants more, and more, and to use his own coarse and brutal language "he doesn't give a d—n" on what principle the citizens ought to, or wish to conduct their affairs. But for this one man, who has lived and fattened in office in this county for twelve years or more, there would not be the least difficulty in the good citizens securing valuable and lasting reforms, very much lower taxes and a permanent adjustment of the relations between the races. So long as he can buy up strikers, vote brokers, and voters, so long can he defeat the efforts of the reformers, by neutralizing the votes of the best citizens and virtually disfranchising them.

The people must get back to the sound principle. The honest, the competent and those with the greatest interest at stake, must rule. The Democratic party is composed of the only men in the county who are capable of ruling it, and reforming it at the present time. It should be thoroughly disciplined and capably handled and the work will be done. Let every good citizen of the county aid the Democratic party in the good work.

Warren County Indebtedness.
At a recent meeting of the board of supervisors Chancery Clerk and County Auditor George T. Hardy, was instructed to prepare for the board, by its September meeting, a statement of the county's bond and scrip indebtedness. Mr. George P. LeBarre, an experienced accountant, was employed to perform the work. After a thorough overhauling of the auditor's books, taking the report of Judge A. H. Arthur as a starting point, bearing date of August 31, 1881, he has about completed his statement, which will be presented to the board to-morrow. Among other important facts this report will exhibit the following list of outstanding indebtedness:

General fund scrip.....	$29,826 81
Special fund scrip.....	4,483 08
School fund scrip.....	5,294 91
Funding bonds, payable Feb. 1, 1885.....	29,491 00
Interest on funding bonds, payable Feb. 1, 1885.....	613 00
Ship Island railroad bonds.....	32,500 00
Interest on Ship Island bonds, Jan. 1, 1885.....	2,710 00
Due Henry Mayer, treasurer.....	121 45
Due H. Marshall, for sectional indexes.....	3,882 12
Total outstanding.....	$105,814 40

This exhibit perhaps presents a better showing for the county's obligations than many had supposed. Mr. LeBarre says the Ship Island railroad bonds will at the present special rate of interest levied for the purpose be retired five years before they come due.

HOADLY'S SPEECH.

Governor Hoadly delivered the opening speech for the Democracy of Ohio at Hamilton last Saturday. In the language of the marines "it is a regular stinger." Much of it is taken up with State affairs, but enough of it is devoted to John Sherman and the gospel of hate he preached at Mount Gil-ead, to make him turn green with chagrin and sweat ice water. He is too cold blooded to exude normal perspiration.

"The leader of the Republicans of Ohio," declares Gov. Hoadly, "has carefully prepared an appeal to his party, and sent it from the stump through the press to the country. He waves the bloody shirt. He endorses a policy of alienation and hate. He seeks to transplant and cultivate in this country the feelings of the English aristocracy, to arouse section against section, to govern the South from the North, as Dublin Castle governs Ireland as a conquered province, and all this in the year of grace 1885, and twenty years and more after the end of the war."

"The average life of an ordinary generation is thirty years. Owing to the casualties of war, which cost our country at least a million lives, the duration of the generation now passing away has been less than this. Twenty-five years have elapsed since Lincoln's election. Five-sevenths, perhaps more, of the men who devised the rebellion, the men who fought its battles, and the men who overcame it, have passed away. The great civil and great military leaders, Lincoln and Grant, both sleep in graves bathed in the tears of the whole nation, South and North, for both died with words upon their lips and feelings in their hearts of charity to all, malice towards none. Seward and Sumner, Chase and Douglas, Lee and Breckenridge, these are historic not living names. Alone of the authors of the rebellion Jefferson Davis survives. Boys born when the war broke out have been voting for six years past. Boys born after the war will vote next year. Boys too young to bear arms are now mature men of 35. There is a new South, and a new North, a new generation full of new life is at work. A very large proportion of the people of the South have never seen a slave, and have lived under no other regime but that of universal suffrage.

"Is it not time for Sherman and Foraker to accept the result of the war, and no longer to continue the battle?"

"Eight million bales of cotton, the probable crop this year, are in sight. There are no idlers in the South; why croak in the North? White men and black men are side by side at work. The South is developing new industries, weaving cotton cloth, digging coal and iron, forging steel. God and nature, religion and the human heart, are forces against which Sherman and Foraker contend and foster plots."

Gov. Hoadly said, to the policy of alienation, the Democratic party opposed union; and for hate it substituted love.

The following sentences of the distinguished Ohioan are particularly recommended to the perusal of the Evening Post, which took occasion, some days ago, to make a telegram in the Times-Democrat the excuse for a characteristic stab at Gov. Hoadly; and which has been as persistent in grinding grist for the Republican outrage mill as the blackest Radical in Radicaedom:

"Let us, then, banish these unmanly fears of Southern wrong-doing," said the speaker, "and cease to exaggerate occasional personal conflicts into wars of races. Andersonville and Copiah are worn out. Turn out some new grist, oh grinders of the outrage mill! Home rule, and as little application of the eternal principle of regulation as is consistent with the greatest liberty to all, will in time cure all ills of State and Nation."

The following ringing sentences from Hoadly, in which the animus of Sherman's baseless slanders against the motives of the administration in appointing Southern men to Cabinet positions are exposed and refuted, are also recommended as mighty interesting reading to the Evening Post, a paper which declared that Hon. John G. Carlisle, a Southern Democrat, was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives on account of sectionalism and not on account of merit:

"Sherman is distressed because Lamar and Garland and Bayard, two members of the Confederate Congress, and one man who sympathized with them, are at the head of the Government. Oh, yes, it was well to put Key at the head of the Postoffice Department. With one Confederate the Cabinet was all right, but two are a lamentable concession to treason. No, not quite this even. Akerman was a proper Attorney-General, Key a most becoming Postmaster-General, but two at a time, Garland and Lamar together, ay, there's the rub. The tears of crocodiles are freely shed as Sherman softly sings, 'Insults arecher would not one suffice.' Mosby, Madison, Wells, Mahone, and Chalmers, the guerilla, the returning board, the repudiator, and the Fort Pillow butcher, all of them have had their garments washed, but Lawton and Jackson, Jonas and Lamar, and Garland, the best and purest of the South, these to our Senator are unregenerate children of political satan, unfit to serve the Republic."

The speech of Governor Hoadly presents in sharp juxtaposition the opposing issues on which the Democrats and Republicans are to fight out the State campaign: The former are arrayed under the banners of pacification, unity and reform; the other under the flag of slander, sectionalism and hate.

THE prediction made by the COMMERCIAL HERALD, shortly after the arraignment of Mrs. Walkup for poisoning her husband, that she was an innocent woman, receives additional strength from the following special telegram which appears in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of Sunday:

EMPORIA, KAN., Sept. 5.—The opinion of Dr. J. W. Truworthy, of Kansas City, that Mr. J. R. Walkup was in the habit of taking arsenical preparations for the purpose of stimulating his physical powers, and that the effect of the drug caused his death, is accepted by many people here as a solution of the case. Dozens of reputable witnesses can be brought to testify that Mr. Walkup frequently and publicly boasted after his marriage of great excesses and it was exactly in the line of his proceedings at the time he fell sick last month with the same old symptoms he described to Mr. Scott, of Kansas City, and which the testimony of Mr. Ebben Baldwin, of Lawrence, Dr. J. W. Filkins and J. R. Graham, of this city, corroborate as having also occurred last December, in the summer of 1883 and summer of 1884, respectively. Dr. Truworthy is known here as a reliable physician, who practiced medicine for many years in Emporia prior to his removal to Kansas City last year. He says in an interview that he treated Walkup two years for symptoms similar to those of the latter's fatal illness and acted generally as his physician. Mr. Walkup's habits are very generally known here to confirm the Kansas City theory of his arsenical condition and proportionately exonerate his wife from any responsibility for the result of his habits. Mrs. Walkup said to a lady who called on her in her cell at the court-house today, "Think of what I am going through, and I am an innocent woman." Public sentiment is divided on the question of Mrs. Walkup's alleged guilt, and there are people enough in Emporia who believe her innocent to secure her a fair trial when her case is submitted to a jury decision.

The Result of the Primaries in Claiborne.

PORT GIBSON, Sept. 3, 1885.

Editor Commercial Herald:

In accordance with the expressed wish of the tried and true yeoman of Democratic faith of Claiborne county, an election was held on Tuesday, Sept. 1st, in the various precincts of the county, to determine who should be the nominees for the several offices of the county. The plan adopted was the well known one—a "primary," a plurality fixing the nominee, and every one mentally agreeing to support the nominee, whomsoever he should be. The ringing resolution sent in by the "Brandywine Tigers" seemed to be the rallying cry on which to base the conduct of the election, and to-day, its wisdom is apparent. Said resolution is in substance "that Democrats, and they well known ones only, vote at this election, and that we deprecate the use of the negro in formulating our party nominees," etc. The result of this measure was that not forty negroes voted to make a Democratic ticket, and every one of them was vouched for by several white Democrats. Several of our old "whipper-ins" stood idly by on the grounds and, like Othello, lamented "an occasion gone," and now as the race is done, the ticket named, all feel satisfied because it was wrought out on a family basis. Of course the ticket wrought surprising changes and open eyes attested that fact as the returns came in. The ticket stands as telegraphed you last night. The ticket, like that of the State, gives general satisfaction and no bolting will result.

HENRI WATTERSON goes for the Mobile Register in the following style:

That rabid old Red-snapper, the Mobile Register, reminds us of its existence by the pious ejaculation that "the presumption of the Courier-Journal in assuming to dictate to the Democratic party has been very properly rebuked by several Southern journals." Well, now that the Register mentions it, we believe we did hear something the other night outside the net, south, by southwest, going in; but we thought it was a mosquito. Was it only a rebuke?

CANTON, Miss., Sept. 8.—The friends of prohibition were defeated by the liquor men at a recent meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen. The prohibitionists say they are not disheartened and will keep up their fight.

Sharkey County Notes.

SHARKEY COUNTY, Sept. 2.

Editor Commercial Herald:

Since my last report you can hear nothing but complaints about the crops, every planter agreeing that thirty per cent. has been lost in the past four weeks; and I have not met a single man who has planted the Allen seed, but says he will never plant it again. One gentleman says he would give five hundred dollars, if he had planted common seed.

The corn crop I am glad to see, is good and the country generally is well supplied with hay.

The Republicans in mass meeting assembled to-day at Rolling Fork, and passed the following resolutions:

1st. That each district hold a meeting on the second Saturday in this month to elect an executive committee for the ensuing two years, and that the members elected meet at Rolling Fork and organize on the third Saturday of this month.

Resolved, 2d. Where the labor of the county directly pays three-fourths of the taxes for levee purposes, we are in favor of a more equal adjustment of said tax, so that the owners of the soil shall bear their just proportion with the labor of the county.

This meeting was attended by the good and law abiding colored citizens of the entire county, and will, in selecting their executive committee from the several districts in the county, place upon said committee the best and most sensible of their party; in fact, the negroes of Sharkey wish to go with the white folks and that accounts for their owning good lands, good mules, good horses, good schools, and churches—and they are opening their eyes to Mr. Little, "white Chinier Psalm singer Republican." That is now "too thin." We have some negroes here too smart for the "Radicals" and who can see how to paddle their own canoe—and we are happy to see they at last have found out that the old time southern man is their best friend.

Sharkey, however, had to, in order to keep up its previous record, have a shooting scrape to-day. One Mr. Johnson shot and badly crippled Mr. Henry Koker, Johnson shooting Koker through both legs with a needle gun. Dr. Harper says one of Koker's legs will have to be amputated.

The cotton worm is becoming too previous to suit the planter, but poor fellow, he says Paris Green is no good, and we believe the planter is right. No need of spending money where you derive no benefit. Did you ever see an old turkey hen just released in a strange place after a week's confinement look all around in every direction? If so, you can imagine how Sharkey is in politics. SUBSCRIBER.
